Product Platform Offers a Portfolio of Alternative Investment Solutions Tailored for Markets in EMEA, Asia and Latin America via Local Distribution Channels

Launching with Two Initial Strategies, Expects to Add More in the Coming Quarters

NEW YORK, May 02, 2023 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Apollo (NYSE: APO) today announced the launch of the Apollo Private Markets SICAV, a Luxembourg-based product platform designed to offer a holistic set of Apollo's alternative solutions to wealth investors in EMEA, Asia and Latin America, in formats tailored to individuals' specific needs. The platform received regulatory authorization from Luxembourg's Commission de Surveillance du Secteur Financier (CSSF)¹ and launches with its first two investment strategies. The launch of the platform marks a significant milestone in the buildout of Apollo's Global Wealth business in regions outside of the United States.

The new platform will initially offer two perpetual, semi-liquid products – one that provides a turn-key solution to broad private markets exposure and another focused on US private credit – and Apollo plans to add additional strategies in upcoming months. The SICAV structure will allow investors to access strategies in their local currency, with lower investment minimums than traditional alternative product offerings.

Apollo's Veronique Fournier, Managing Director and Head of EMEA Global Wealth, and Edward Moon, Managing Director and Head of Asia Pacific Global Wealth, said, "This is an exciting and innovative step in the development of our Global Wealth business through which we can provide a full suite of alternative investment solutions across asset classes including credit, equity and real assets to investors outside of the United States. The new offering will complement institutional funds and planned country-specific parallel funds to provide our global distribution partners with a variety of structures to best address their clients' needs and objectives."

Stephanie Drescher, Partner and Chief Client and Product Development Officer at Apollo, said, "At Apollo, we continue to build and invest in a Global Wealth business that not only provides greater access to alternatives, but also tailors our product offerings to the individual. The substantial progress we're making in Europe, Asia and the US is particularly important as investors seek diversification from the traditional 60/40 portfolio of public equities and bonds, two assets classes that have experienced heightened correlation over the last 12 months."

In addition to a wide array of advisor and client benefits, this new platform enables Apollo to offer investment strategies under an umbrella structure that lowers operating costs and facilitates greater speed to market across global geographies. Apollo believes the platform is unique among its peers and demonstrates its commitment to purpose-build a Global Wealth business that serves the distinct needs of individuals.
